HOUSE OF NOMA

> "Nostalgia is the Objective.
> Minimalism is the Aesthetic."

NOMA is not a trend. NOMA is a timeline.

NOMA New York is a luxury fashion house built on disciplined silhouettes, elevated materials, and cinematic storytelling. We exist at the intersection of nostalgia and modernity; a brand for those who dress with intention, not trend.

N Nostalgia as creative fuel

O Originality is non-negotiable

M Minimalism as a design language

The Luxury Market is Ripe for Cultural Disruption

A $554B GLOBAL OPPORTUNITY

$554B

GLOBAL LUXURY MARKET (2026)

The personal luxury goods market continues its robust expansion, driven by new consumer demographics.

60%

GEN Z & MILLENNIAL SHARE

By 2026, younger generations will account for the majority of luxury purchases, demanding authenticity and cultural relevance.

2.5x

DTC GROWTH MULTIPLIER

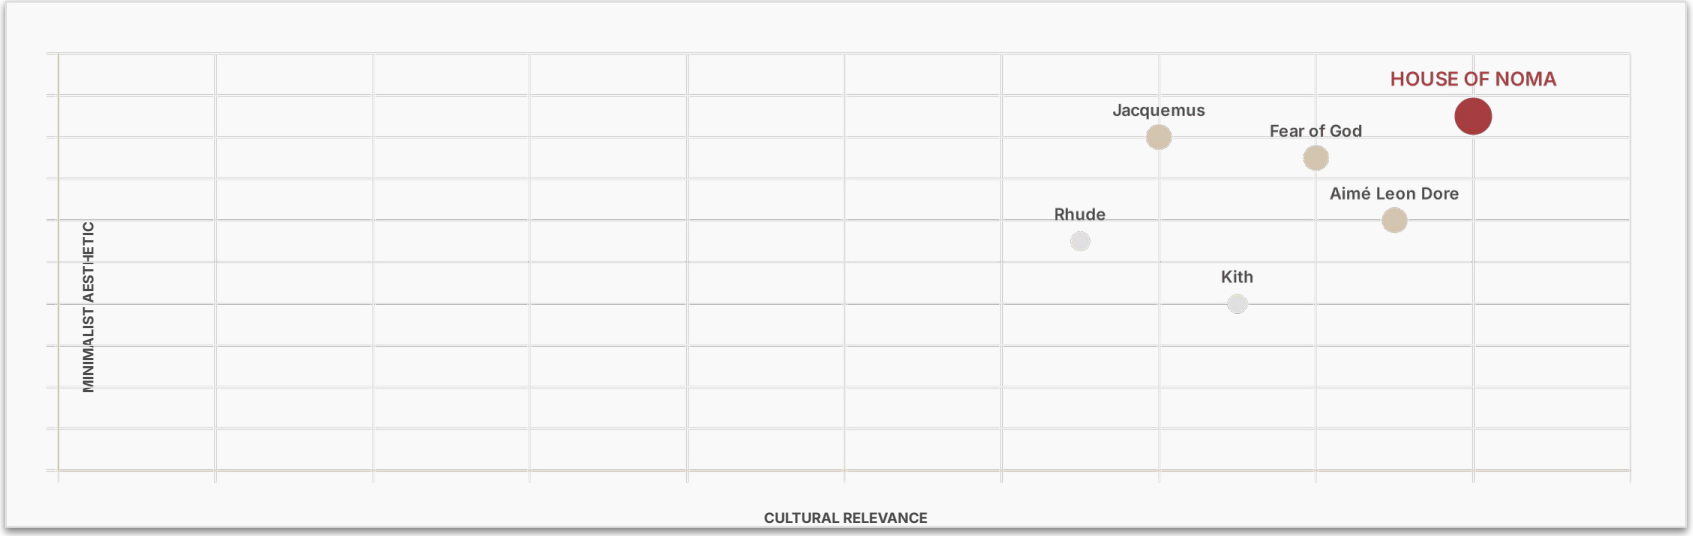
Direct-to-Consumer channels are growing 2.5 times faster than traditional wholesale, offering higher margins and data ownership.

STRATEGIC INSIGHT

The modern luxury consumer is not buying logos — they are buying narratives, cultural access, and identity. NOMA delivers all three.

The Competitive Landscape

POSITIONING IN THE WHITE SPACE



The White Space

NOMA occupies the rare intersection of high-end minimalist design and authentic cultural storytelling. While competitors lean heavily into either streetwear or traditional luxury, NOMA bridges the gap.

Price Authority

Positioned strategically below European heritage houses but above premium streetwear, offering accessible luxury with uncompromising quality and scarcity.

The Moat

Our competitive advantage lies in our community. We are not just selling garments; we are outfitting a cultural movement that cannot be easily replicated by legacy brands.

Brand Positioning

THE NOMA IDENTITY

> A contemporary luxury house exploring minimalism through cultural nostalgia, creating refined pieces for the modern creative class

Core Pillars

- Cultural Authenticity
  Rooted in the Bronx and Ghanaian heritage, bringing genuine narratives to high fashion.
- Elevated Minimalism
  Clean lines, premium fabrications, and meticulous tailoring that speak louder than logos.
- Engineered Scarcity
  A disciplined drop model that drives desire, protects margins, and eliminates dead stock.

Target Audience

The Cultural Architect

Aged 22-38. Creative professionals, artists, and entrepreneurs who value design integrity over conspicuous consumption. They are highly engaged in music, art, and design culture.

The Discerning Collector

Aged 28-45. Established professionals who appreciate the quality of European luxury houses but seek brands with a more modern, relatable cultural perspective.

Youthful Ignorance — SS26

"A NARRATIVE OF HIGH-FASHION MINIMALISM"

Collection 13: Youthful Ignorance is NOMA's most ambitious project to date. Presented at Gotham Hall during NYFW SS26, the collection explores the tension between innocence and experience, youth and wisdom. Oversized silhouettes meet precision tailoring. Monochrome palettes are disrupted by moments of vivid color. Every piece is a chapter in the NOMA timeline.

Key Looks

- Green leather biker jacket with contrast piping — the hero piece
- Yellow fur-trimmed rain jacket — color as cultural statement
- Black leather biker set — power and restraint
- Purple ribbed knit crewneck — quiet luxury
- Suede moto jacket — NYC meets Milan

INSTAGRAM · TIKTOK · EDITORIAL

Instagram Strategy

- 3–4 posts/week (prioritize Wednesday drops)
- Reels-first content: runway clips, behind-the-scenes, styling edits
- Story series: "The Making of NOMA" — process and craft storytelling
- Drop countdown activations with swipe-up shopping

TikTok Strategy

- Weekly "NOMA.Wav" content series — lifestyle, culture, craft
- Trend-responsive content with brand-consistent aesthetic
- Creator duets and stitch campaigns
- Shoppable TikTok integration (U.S. social commerce >$100B in 2026)

Editorial Storytelling

- Quarterly editorial shoots for each major drop
- "Art Through Fabric" video series — short-form cinematic bts content
- NOMA.WAV music-fashion crossover content

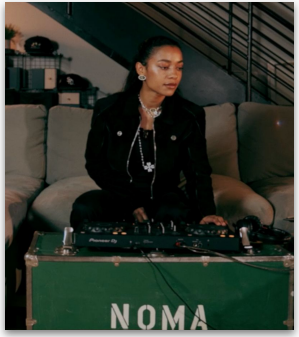
EDITORIAL CONTENT AS BRAND ARCHITECTURE

CINEMATIC VIDEO

Art Through Fabric

Short-form, highly stylized content focusing on texture, movement, and craftsmanship. Instagram Reels + TikTok.



AUDIO-VISUAL CROSSOVER

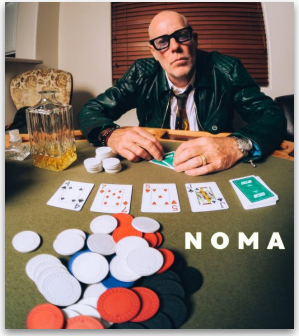
NOMA.WAV

Blending our aesthetic with the sounds of the diaspora. Underground artists wearing NOMA in raw, authentic environments.

BRAND HISTORY

The Archive Project

Deep storytelling into 11 years of NOMA. Recontextualizing past collections and pivotal moments for new audiences.



PROCESS + TRANSPARENCY

The Making of NOMA

Behind-the-scenes from sketches and fabric sourcing to final runway execution. Building trust through showing the work.

Strategic Partnerships That Amplify, Not Dilute

RETAIL, WHOLESALE & COLLABORATION STRATEGY

Retail Strategy

- DTC-First (80%): Full brand control, first-party data, highest margins
- Strategic Wholesale (20%): High-authority doors that validate and amplify

Target Wholesale Partners

PARTNER	TYPE	WHY NOMA
Assembly New York	Cultural validator	Aligns with NOMA's luxury-cultural positioning
SSENSE	Digital luxury	Global reach, editorial presentation
Extra Butter	NYC streetwear authority	Community overlap, cultural credibility
Nordstrom (select doors)	Scale + accessibility	Bridge to broader premium audience

Collaboration Targets

- NYC cultural institutions (museums, galleries)
- Music artists and labels (building on NBA Youngboy precedent)
- Footwear brand collaboration (expand Article.025 footwear line)
- Athletic brand capsule (sport-luxury crossover)

Press & Media Strategy

Deepen relationships: Highsnobiety, Bazaar, CFDA, Essence

Target publications: Vogue, GQ, Complex, i-D, Dazed

NYFW press strategy: Exclusive pre-show access for key editors

Business Development

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS & RETAIL EXPANSION

01 Direct-to-Consumer (DTC) Focus

Maintaining 80% DTC sales to protect margins, control the brand narrative, and own customer data. The primary engine for revenue and community building.

02 Strategic Wholesale

Targeting top-tier global retailers (e.g., SSENSE, Dover Street Market, Selfridges) for brand validation and international customer acquisition. Capped at 20% of total volume.

03 Experiential Retail (Pop-Ups)

Quarterly immersive pop-up experiences. Designed as community events rather than traditional retail spaces.

04 Brand Collaborations

Pursuing strategic, non-apparel collaborations (e.g., footwear, home goods, audio) to expand the NOMA universe and tap into adjacent cultural demographics.

A Business Built for Margin, Not Just Revenue

UNIT ECONOMICS & REVENUE PROJECTIONS

Unit Economics Assumptions

METRIC	ASSUMPTION	BENCHMARK
Average Order Value (AOV)	$175–$225	Premium streetwear basket
Conversion Rate	2.0%–3.0%	Shopify: good fashion CR 1.9%–3.3%
Return Rate	18%–25%	NRF: online returns 19.3% (2025)
Gross Margin (MSRP)	60%–70%	Apparel avg ~54% (Shopify)
Wholesale Price	~50% of MSRP	Keystone logic

Revenue Architecture

DTC E-commerce: 80% of revenue

Strategic Wholesale: 15% of revenue

Pop-ups & Events: 5% of revenue

12-Month Revenue Scenarios

Operational Excellence is the Invisible Moat

SUPPLY CHAIN, INVENTORY & TEAM STRUCTURE

Supply Chain Principles

1–2 reliable factories per category (cut-and-sew, outerwear, footwear)

Tier-1 European manufacturing for increased volume (Q3 2026 target)

Landed-cost model with tariff risk buffers (State of Fashion 2026: tariff turbulence)

QC gates: Proto → Size Set → PP Sample → Inline QC → Final Inspection

Inventory Governance

- Target sell-through: 35% by Week 2, 70% by Week 6

SKU rationalization: tight assortment, deep storytelling per piece

- Scarcity engine: 90%+ sell-through within 48 hours of drop

Tech Stack

LAYER	TOOL	PURPOSE

INTERNATIONAL MARKET ENTRY STRATEGY

Global Brand Narrative

"NOMA's origin story is its greatest asset in global markets. The brand's heritage, and luxury minimalism create a narrative that resonates across cultures.

01 Cultural Capitals

2026–2027

- London
  Strong appetite for NYC streetwear; Dover Street Market London
- Paris
  Luxury fashion capital; editorial credibility; colette-era nostalgia
- Tokyo
  Deep appreciation for American streetwear; Harajuku culture overlap

02 Emerging Markets

2027–2028

- Lagos, Nigeria
  Heritage resonance; growing luxury consumer
- Accra, Ghana
  Heritage; Pan-African luxury narrative
- Dubai
  High-net-worth consumer; luxury fashion hub

03 Flagship Presence

2028+

- NOMA New York
  Temporary Flagship store concept
- "Retail as Media"
  Store as cultural programming space
- Wholesale
  International wholesale expansion

Risks We See. Mitigation We've Built.

STRATEGIC RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk	Severity	Mitigation
Inventory overbuy	High	Tight SKU counts, demand tests, allocation rules
Tariff/landed cost shocks	Medium	Sourcing diversification, landed-cost buffers
Returns eroding margin	High	Fit content, exchange-first flows, QA gates
Weak discoverability	Medium	Creator program + structured PDP data + PR
Brand dilution via collab	Medium	Strict partner criteria, brand code guardrails
Compliance failure	Low	FTC/CPSC/CBP checklist, vendor documentation

Why NOMA. Why Now.

THE CASE FOR THE HOUSE OF NOMA

1

ORGANIC COMMUNITY

11 years of authentic community that cannot be replicated by capital alone. The brand's audience is earned, not bought.

2

CULTURAL TIMING

The global luxury market is shifting toward brands with authentic cultural narratives. NOMA is perfectly positioned for this moment.

3

OPERATIONAL DISCIPLINE

A DTC-first model with 60–70% gross margins, tight inventory, and a engine that drives 90%+ sell-through.

4

FOUNDER VISION

Amon is a rare combination of creative director, brand strategist, and community builder. The brand IS the founder's vision and that vision is clear.

5

UNTAPPED SCALE

NOMA has built cultural credibility without institutional capital. The right investment unlocks global distribution, manufacturing scale, and marketing amplification without compromising the brand's soul.

THE VISION

Building a legacy house that outlasts the hype

NOMA is a Timeline.

LET'S WRITE THE NEXT CHAPTER.
